Side Show Manager Stricken

Edward W. Smith of Philadelphia, manager of the Ten in One show died suddenly with apoplexy early Tuesday morning at his boarding place on Tucker St.

He had a shock Monday afternoon while at work about the tent and removed to his boarding place. A physican was quickly summoned but no medical aid reached the trouble. His age was fifty-one years and he was a native of Toronto, Canada. So far as could be learned his wife, who was a member of the troupe, and a brother who also handles traveling carnivals, are the only survivors. Out of respect to the deceased the show did not open to large business until Wednesday.

Rev. H. L. Nichols of the Norway Methodist church conducted the services at Leroy Spiller's undertaking rooms, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock The remains were taken to New York by the widow where private services will be held at the Stephen Merritt parlors.

No plans had been made about the disposition of the show. Irving Yost, who has been with him fourteen years will carry on the business for the present and finish the dates now booked.

Red Cross Concert

A fair sized audience was present at the Norway Opera House Friday evening at the Red Cross Concert given by Charles Harrison of New York who has been spending the summer at Harrison and Mrs. Beulah Gayland Young also of New York. Ruth Cummings of Norway was accompanist for the evening and Marion Haskell assisted with violin selections.

Mr. Harrison is well known because of his Victor and Columbia records and Mrs. Young is well known as a recital artist and has a very sweet voice with fine range and a pleasing personality.

Miss Haskell and Miss Cummings who are studing music in Boston rendered their selections in a very pleasing manner and showed marked improvement in their work.

The selections were all finely given and were warmly applauded.

The concert was given for the benefit of the Red Cross and about $85 was cleared.

Dr. C. M. Packard of Lawrence, Mass., was here. He has been in Massachusetts about 25 years but gets here to see friends now and then. He sees many improvements in town.

Mrs. Louise Kelley of Bethel spent several days in town during the Fair, as guest of Evelyn A. Chandler, and at South Paris with Mrs. James Boyce and family.

Dr. Donald S. Bartlett, who has been with Dr. Harry P. Jones during the summer, received his call to report for duty not later than Oct. 15. Dr. Bartlett has been a volunteer in the Medical Reserve for several months, having enlisted for dental work.

At the cattle show dance in Norway Opera House Wednesday evening Mrs. Siders of Portland and Miss Fields of Oxford were the winners in the prize waltz among ninety couples who entered for the elimination process.

Francis Hall of Rochester, N. H., has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall, during the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Silver and family of Woodstock were in town Wednesday and Thursday calling on friends and attending the cattle show.

The Cobblers' League finished their season Saturday afternoon with a contest between the stock room and lasters. Everything broke favorably to the lasting outfit and they trotted away with the lead until the sixth inning. The score was 8 to 0 in their favor. A favorable break occurred for the stockmen and they cleaned up 7 runs right off the reel and finally won with a score 13 to 12. In doing this stunt the stock-room claim the league championship as their team has been the only bunch playing strictly a department nine during the series.

Base Ball

Carrollites 2; West Paris 1

Tuesday the Carrollites and West Paris met on the Fair Grounds in their fifth game of the year and the home team won out in a hard fought ten inning battle 2-1. Hunt and Bacon both pitched great ball, the former being hit a little harder than his opponent, but keeping the hits scattered.

The Norway outfit scored first in the 2nd inning. Shepard drove out a long double to left, went third on an out at first and scored when Boulier came through with a single.

West Paris came back in the lucky 7th and tied it up on Emery's single, two stolen bases and Bacon's grounder to Lafrance.

Shepard scored again in the 10th and the game was over for although West Paris threatened in their half, Hunt proved too strong. The score:

West Paris 10; Carrollites 4

West Paris came back strong at the Norway outfit Wednesday, batting Hunt all over the lot and winning easily 10-4. The veteran Delano was in the box for the Paris team and his southpaw delivery was too much for his opponents for in only one inning did they get more than one hit while ten of them were strike-out victims. W. Weston, Bolster's Mills were also re-elected as trustees for two years.

The society voted to authorize the trustees to cut and sell the pine next winter on the eastern boundary of the grounds if advisable.

Cattle Show Dance

Giles Frost with others conducted a dance in Norway Opera House each evening during the fair. Large crowds were the rule especially Wednesday evening, when about one hundred and seventy-five couples attended. This was a record breaker. Spot light, elimination prize waltzes and other novelties were offered. The regular four-piece orchestra furnished excellent music. Dancers attended from the four corners of the State, and automobiles lined Main Street, Wednesday evening from Advertiser square to Danforth street.

The Races

TUESDAY'S RACES

Officials

Starter—Isaiah R. Morrill, Brunswick.
Timers and Judges—Thomas Thibodeau, Norway; Irving Thibodeau, Medford, Mass.; Frank M. Richardson, Norway, and Charles Hill.
Clerk—Dr. Donald S. Bartlett, Norway.
Marshal—Alonzo Fuller, Poland.

Two races were on the card and the usual first day crowd gathered in the grand stand. Lewiston Brigade Band, Arthur N. Pettengill, director, furnished music.

Little enthusiasm was aroused over the races as no special contest developed. In the 2.17 the four stakes mixed things slightly but never a question arose over Bingo's ability to finish the first place after drawing third position. The 2.50 trot with seven starters opened up a little sport with heats well split. Considerable scoring was necessary to bring the bunch under the wire for the first send off. Little Trouble, Brocken, and Pacific Express failed to come within the money after the third heat and were ruled off, leaving four in the last field to fight it out.

RACES WEDNESDAY

Starter—Isaiah R. Morrill, Brunswick.
Judges—Dana Pratt, Portsmouth, N. H.; Frank H. Richardson, Norway.
Timers—Thos. Thibodeau, Norway; Irving Thibodeau, Medford, Mass.
Clerk—Dr. D. S. Bartlett, Norway.

The races attracted a large crowd into the stand and along the fences. Each proved a contest with well known horses in the field. The 2.20 trot and pace worked into a fight with several surprises and a final elimination of Wayland Echo, May Forbes and Gay Gara who had no show after the third heat for any portion of the purse. Starr finished the first heat as a trailer from fifth position but came back strong, winning out easily.

Contrary to the usual tactics in a large field of starters, the 2.30 trot and pace with eight under the first wire, developed a race clear through without dividing into smaller battles. The bunch hugged closely and frequently jammed together before a breakaway at the last turn.

Driver Silver, who handled Wayland Echo, had a bad spill after receiving the word in the second heat of the 2.20 race. He was thrown from the sulky and badly shaken up. The horse continued with the field to the wire, but was caught before any spectators were injured. Silver continued with his work, but Wednesday evening it was learned that ligaments in his leg had been strained and probably torn. Medical attendance was necessary.

RACES THURSDAY

Cheerless skies and a raw breeze from the East swept the grand stand and track. Several hundred braved the uncongenial weather and watched the races from vantage points near the wire. There was very little pep in the contests, and low markers failed to materialize. The Free-for-all, which is considered big game was rather tame excepting in the third heat when Cheerful Charlie crowded Mud Lake into a step that made the race more like the real thing. This race was decided in straight heats.

Five heats were needed to settle the 2.20 trot. Montbert was drawn in the third, while Barron Sidnut and Lelia Todd were ruled out in the fourth. Airdale failed to appear after the third heat. This left Ralph Wilkes and Ella Hamlin to settle the last trip with nothing better than an easy work out. The officials were the same as Wednesday excepting E. L. McAvoy of Hampton, Mass., who served as judge in the place of Dana Pratt. In the 2:26 trot and pace the fourth money was divided with Lady Cochran and Virginia Echo. The races resulted as follows:

2.20 Class, Trot. Purse $250

Time: 2.21; 2.18¼; 2.14¾.

A matrmonial misunderstanding caused the husband of Ursa, the bear woman, to take French leave from the side show and his attractive wife. His whereabouts were unknown until Deputy Herman Billings arrived on the grounds with a peculiar acting man unable to speak English. He was picked up in the station at Bryant's Pond. Appearances gave the officers a tip that the fellow might belong to a travelling outfit which proved correct.

Twelve hundred automobiles passed into the gates Wednesday and five hundred were packed in yards or fields just outside the grounds.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Norway Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Norway itizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

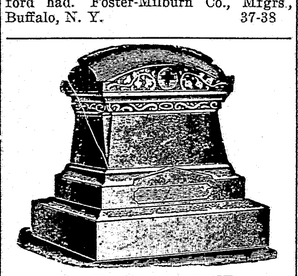

A Norway citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

C. E. Bradford, prop. of laundry, Main street, Norway, says: "For some time I had a dull pain through the small of my back, together with a tired feeling. I couldn't rest well. When a friend advised me to take Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at F. P. Stone's Drug Store. After I used two boxes, the pains and other symptoms disappeared and there was a great improvement in every way. I have had no kidney trouble since." (Statement given April 30, 1912).

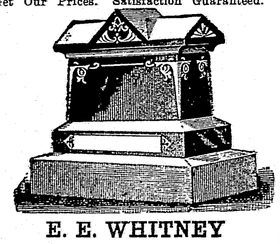

On June 6, 1916 Mr. Bradford added: "I still have confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills as it hasn't been necessary for me to use a kidney medicine since I took them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Bradford had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 37-38

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the system. have a few tennis shoes left, in men's and boys' sizes, which are genuine bargains—ask to see them when you are in.

We also have good prices on a few summer shirts which ought to be sold before the heavier fall and winter shirts are put on the counter. Overalls and frocks are not exactly bargains now-a-days, but they are a saving for more expensive clothing and we have several weights and colors at very reasonable prices compared with the prices of cotton cloth and labor that goes into the manufacturing of such goods.

In groceries, we have a very good assortment of canned goods and it is a good time to get a few cans home for fall and winter use, as they are sure to be higher in prices later on. Coffee and tea in several grades, spices, mustard, Arm & Hammer and Three Crow Soda; this latter soda has some money in the packages. Also pure cream tartar, which is very high; and two kinds of cream tartar substitute, very nice and a great saving in cost. Flour and flour substitutes, a very good assortment to choose from.

SOUTH PARIS

Lieutenant Lowell Back

Thursday afternoon Lieut. Lowell arrived in South Paris for a few days' stay only. He is ordered to Camp Dix, New Jersey, for instruction and reassignment, and expects to be assigned to some other unit of the army.

He is well known here where his home has always been, and he is the first man from this section to come back from the fighting on the front.

He left France on the 19th day of August, with a number of other returning officers, among whom was Capt. Archie Roosevelt. They had a rather slow passage on account of submarine warnings, and sank one submarine on the trip.

Lieut. Lowell enlisted in the 103d Infantry, which has been in France about a year. Having secured an appointment to an officers' training school, he was commissioned as lieutenant, and was at first assigned to Co. G, which was originally the Bangor company of the Second Regiment, Maine National Guard, but was later transferred to Co. M, which was from Augusta.

For about two months, in February and March, he was in the trenches at Chemin des Dames. Later at Xivray in June, he was gassed, and was in the hospital for some weeks, though not so long a time as he was supposed to be booked for. He was released just in time to be at the turning point of the big push at Chateau Thierry on the 18th of July. It is well known now that the 26th Division, including the 103d Regiment, took a prominent part there in changing the German advance into a retreat, at the apex of its accomplishment. From the 18th to the 25th of July he went over the top five times. To have participated in those events, which may have marked the turning point of the whole war, is certainly honor for any man, and Lieut. Lowell says it is honor enough for him if he gets no more during the war.

He had just returned from a furlough spent in Paris when he received notice that he was to be sent home, which he says seemed almost too good to be true. His experiences seem not to affect him seriously as yet, and he appears in the pink of condition.

COST TO THE CONSUMER OF A POUND LOAF OF BREAD

Since 1913 farmers have been receiving for their wheat a gradually increasing proportion of the price paid by the consumer for bread. The amount received by the wheat grower for his contribution to the average pound has increased from one and one-half cents per loaf in 1913 to more than three and one-half cents early this year. The proportion to the whole price is shown by the relative length of the black columns of the chart.

The middle portion of each column shows what the miller received for his milling costs and profit. This has been a somewhat variable factor, but is now at the minimum (six per cent). In this six per cent, however, is included the cost of the containers (bags, sacks etc.) shown as dotted area which has increased very nearly in porportion to the price of bread itself. Bags now cost about fifty per cent more than in 1913 and 1914.

The shaded portion of the column represents the expense of distributing the flour, making it into bread and getting the loaf to the consumer.

The chart shows that the farmer is now receiving a much larger share of the final price for his product than in the past, and that a considerable amount of "spread" has been taken out of other expenses.

Is Your Home Protected?

This matter of lightning rods should be a personal one with you.

Is your home protected?

If not, can you afford to take the chances of its destruction?

You may have been spared up to this time, but give it a moment's thought and see whether it has not been through your good fortune rather than through your good management.

You have no assurance that lightning will continue to spare you.

It has visited your neighbors. Your turn may come next. If it should visit your home, it means certain destruction of property. It may mean sudden death to you or to some member of your family.

You cannot shift the responsibility. It is a matter for you to decide. Face the issue squarely and ask yourself the question whether you are playing the part of the prudent man in neglecting to guard your home and dear ones from the lightning stroke which may come at any time.

You have the highest assurances that can be given the Dodd System of lightning rods does give protection.

It is a reasonable system. The demonstrations put its effectiveness beyond question.

Soldiers' Letters

The following letter was written by Currie Wiles who is in France to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Wiles of Norway.

Dear Folks: Still on top and in the best of health and getting along fine and dandy. We have moved from where we were. Now don't get nervous but we can see some of the battle but it is only in the air, German air planes can be seen off some distance and we can see the shells bursting in the air, some are pretty close to them. Say but it looks pretty to see the shells burst in the air—a light blue flame it looks like. We see fellows that come back from the front, with a leg off, or an arm. There are some fellows in this town that are shell shocked, but they are being cured. Some of the soldiers that come back for a rest say that the Huns are about all in.

We don't hear so much war news here as you do over there, not but a few papers and they are in a language that I can't read.

We fellows chip together some of the time and have some eggs they are only ninety cents a dozen and milk is eight cents a quart and other things are hard to buy. We did buy some prunes last night, and there was very little sugar sprinkled over them.

This is a great life but this is a farming town and the cows and chickens wake us too early.

I can buy plenty of beer and wine, but I wouldn't give twenty cents for all the wine they got over here, but the beer is good stuff, but I am not drinking much of it, it don't taste like the beer over there, but I drink a dipper of milk when I can get it. I would like to get some of their bread but they are allowed so much a week so they can't spare any.

Well, I started this letter last night but taps sounded before I could finish it so to-day is Sunday and the air is chilly this morning but gee, it has been hot, yesterday was quite warm and it is some change to-day. Can't think of any more to say, so will close with lots of love, hoping that you are all in the best of health, more love. Jake.

Letter from First Leiut. Guy I. Swett 103rd U. S. Infantry to his aunt, Mrs. Hosea A. McKay, Norway.

My dear Aunt: Come to think of it, have not heard from John for six weeks or so. Well we have been giving them Hell. I am in command of the old Co. again and also am acting Major until the 4th as the Major of the 1st Bat. has gone to Paris on leave. I am ranking officer in this Battalion now, next to the Maj.

I had a good many casualties last week don't know how I happen to be living, guess only by the Grace of God.

Well leave it to John he will come out all right. Well I am getting old start a new year to-day-----

Wrong, of course you are wrong, a dead man is no good and a live one has a chance and therefore there is always hope. He may be exchanged.

Well don't worry our time has not come yet and some day we will both be home to laugh about it. Well I guess you are right about the mail. I got two letters last night, one Feb. 4th and one Feb. 15th. Not much of being six months reaching me.

Well we are suffered to have a rest now. I just got in three bunches of replacements in the last four days to help fill up my vacancies. It is sure work here all the time. "No rest for the weary". Six months straight in the trenches and the last week over the top three times. But damn them we got them on the run if the rest only continue the good work and I guess they are all right. Love to all. Your nephew, G. I. Swett.

Letters from Sergt. William S. Bennett, Co. D. 103, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Bennett of Norway. Sergt. Bennett was wounded while charging over the top into No Man's Land and the following letters tell his experiences while returning to the American lines with notes on life in a base hospital.

My Dear Dad and Mumsie: Well, I am getting so I walk a bit and my wounds are healing fine so it won't be long before I am out of the hospital again and it will seem good to get out of doors again. I'e only been in bed two weeks to morrow but it seems much longer than that, but talk about sleeping, last night I got the first real nights rest I have had since the 3d of July and we were in a town and I slept in a real bed from then until I got wounded I slept any where and only a few minutes at a time and since I have been here I haven't slept much until last night and then I sure did sleep all night only woke up once and then went right to sleep. I am feeling fine to-day, but how I wish when I can't be any use here that I could be home and see my dear folks but then some day the war will be over and I'll be home for good, that will be best of all.

This is August, the year is over half gone and it will be a year since we left old Camp Keyes and that was the first lap of our journey over seas and I hope that a year from to-day we'll be on our way back across the old Atlantic. It seems good to know the Americans are coming over. What will win the war is man power and food to keep them going, and when the history of battles is written I think the American boys will be mentioned in glowing terms, as they sure are fighting like veterans.

Suppose that you are getting some nice weather and that the crops are beginning to show that harvest time is coming—wouldn't I like some of the corn and beans that you must be having now. Am afraid I am getting to think an awful lot about what I have to eat, but mumsie dear when you live the way we had to the last month we were in the line why a good feed means a lot.

When I get home, I think we ought to try and keep a larger stock don't you? I want enough so I can be at home all the time but don't hesitate about selling any thing you want to, or need to, you know that anything will suit me O. K.

To get back home and all to-gether again is all I ask, home was always a great place for me but now it means more then it ever did before and I'll be glad when this is all over and I can be home again.

I was going to Officers school the last of July if I hadn't got wounded but of course I have lost that chance now but I don't care much of course I would like to make good for your sake but for my own part I about as soon just be a sergeant and stay with the same old out fit.

I got a citation from the General, don't know what I done to deserve it but he congratulated me for courage and coolness and devotion to duty under fire. Its just a paper but will send it to you when I get back to the company.

Well, I guess I will close for this time with lots of love and kisses, your loving son, Bill.

My Dear Folks: Thought I would try and write a few lines to-day, no doubt you think I have neglected to write recently but by the papers of course you know we have seen big doings. By the time you get his you will probably be notified or see by the papers that I have been slightly wounded. We had gone over the top the 20th and was going great when I got shot through the hips but it isn't a bad wound, was operated on yesterday and of course am pretty sore to-day, but expect that. Am in a fine hospital and get the best of care. When I came out of the ether last night I raved some I guess as the orderly told me about it this morning. He said I'd rave a while and then laugh and ask the nurse for a kiss, but I wasn't sick at all. I hope my dear folks are all well, was sorry to hear sister had been sick. I can't half write as I have to lie on my stomach all the time and my arm cramps but will write again to-morrow. Do not worry about me at all as I will soon be out.

Your loving son and brother, Bill.
Sgt. William S. Bennett,
D Co., 103rd. Inf.

My Dear Dad, Mumsie, Sister and Brother: Will scribble a few lines to let you know I am feeling fine, slept nearly all night and my wounds don't pain me hardly any. Of course when I have them dressed it hurts some, but only for a short time. I can be on my side now, so I rest much better then I did.

I got back to the company the 3rd of July from the hospital and was in line all the time until I got wounded so I only sent one letter home, but I wrote day before yesterday, but only a short letter.

Everyone has been awfully kind to me since I got hurt. I was beside Lt. Swett when I got shot out there in No Man's Land, he stopped and tore my pants off my hips and bandaged them up so as to stop the blood and then rushed on again and told me to crawl back to the rear if I could. I would crawl a ways then rest a while and then move on again. I got back to the woods and got in a shell hole and watched the battle a while. Howard Tyler came crawling back and after he got rested we started back again toward the rear. My hips were getting over being numb. Then I got up and found I could walk so we got back quite a ways and some first aid men helped us into the station and soon I was in an ambulance on my way to the hospital and got there about 1:30 A. M. the 21st.

I got a lot of letters and was sorry to hear you had such hard luck, hope everything is going good now. Suppose dad is all done haying by this time. One thing, you was lucky that the frost didn't kill the corn, hope it does well and you get a good crop. Was so glad to get the pictures and you know that all I saved was my pictures and some of the last letters I got. First I threw my pack away then I began to get tired and my rifle went. I still kept my old "gat" tucked it in the front of my shirt and didn't give it up at all but lost it after I got in the ambulance, didn't need it then any way. I have no regets only I wish I might have gone on to victory with the boys as I hated to just see we gaining and have to quit then, but I tried to do my bit but was a little unlucky that is all. Probably you will see Sgt. Witham before long he can tell you all about the front we were on.

There does't seem to be much to write about as all we do here is lie in bed and talk about home and the war, and you know all about those subjects as you get more war news in the Boston papers then we do here and of course you know all that's going on at home and we don't.

Well, I guess I will close for this time hoping my dear folks are well, your loving son and brother, Bill.

THE WAR AS A MELTING POT

We hear much these days of the melting pot as applied to the Americanization of our foreign immigrants. While the need has been great that this foreign element be fused with the national life as quickly as possible there is yet another phase of American life wherein the melting pot can render great service, and that melting pot will be developed in the war upon which we have entered.

Until recent years America has been distressingly provincial. Not provincial as a whole, but provincial by sections. The down easter looked with suspicion upon anything having its origin outside old New England. The southerner viewed all parts of the country save the West as alien territory, and only had a tolerance for that section because it was made up largely of his kinsman. The citizen of the Middle West has always been convinced that creation ceased with the completion of his territory, and so it ran. The thoughts and customs of the various sections were antagonistic, and it was only grudgingly that either could be brought to admit that there might be anything of merit come out of the other.

All this the war will change. We will no longer be a nation of many elements all antagonistic and out of sympathy. We will no longer waste our energies in berating and belittling our neighbors because, forsooth, they may not view all of life with our eyes.

In France there are today young men from every part of this country fighting side by side, sharing the same dangers and the same death. As the war progresses, their numbers are increasing. Each is learning from others, and each is unconsciously learning to see life from the other's viewpoint. As the association progresses, many common views will be developed, and where antagonism exists, close and intimate contact will gradually but surely bring each into harmony with the other.

When this war is ended and our boys come home, it will not be a crowd of provincials we shall welcome, but an army of cosmopolitans—world citizens, we may say. These men will have probed to the bottom the character of their fellows and learned all there was to know of them. And in that knowledge they will each have found much value when fully understood, and will have learned to appreciate to the full the good points of all.

The war will complete what our great industrial development had begun—it will make of us at last one compact nation, all Americans together, all with a common interest, a common love and a common destiny.

HOUSEHOLDERS NOW REQUIRED TO USE 20 PC. SUBSTITUTES

"Fifty-Fifty" Rule Withdrawn and Replaced by Universal Victory Loaf —Wheat Conservation Urged.

Orono, Maine, Sept. —The "Fifty-fifty" regulation of the Food Administration has been abolished and householders are now required to use only 20 per cent wheat flour substitutes. A universal Victory loaf has been adopted by the Food Controllers of the United States and the Allies so that now we will eat the same kind of war bread that the French, British, Italians, Belgians and Canadians are eating.

On September 1st, the "Fifty-fifty" rule was withdrawn and in its place retailers are required to sell one pound of wheat flour substitute to four pounds of wheat flour.

Bakers' bread will contain four pounds of wheat flour to one pound of substitutes. This is exactly the same as the housewife's bread. The conservation of wheat is urged and the public is asked to continue using corn bread and other wheat saving breads.

The recent careful survey by the Food Administrators of the United States, France, England and Italy of the food resources of the 220,000,000 people fighting against Germany shows that, to maintain enough supplies and necessary reserves against disaster, there must be maintained in all countries a conservation of wheat flour during the coming year.

It has been agreed that the wheat bread of the Allies shall contain 20 per cent of other grains than wheat, and it is only just that we should bear our share in this saving and that our bread at least should be universal with those who are suffering more greatly from the war than ourselves.

Provisions have been made by the Food Administration of this country for the preparation and marketing by the manufacturing and distributing trades of the country of a mixed flour complying with the international policy, which will be available for purchase by the householder.

Decrease in Garbage.

Food conservation measures which have enabled this country to save and export 141,000,000 bushels of wheat in the past year also have been responsible for decreased garbage collections, indicating that the housewife has observed the Food Administration's injunction to "put less into the garbage pail."

A statistical report covering important American cities has just been issued by the Food Administration for the year ending May 1st last. The amount of garbage collected in eighty-one cities was 10 per cent less than for the same period of the year previous. In fifteen cities there were increased garbage collections, due primarily to increased populations where war industries have sprung up or near which contonments have been established. Another reason for the increase is probably that more improved and thorough means have been employed in collection as a result of appeals made by the Food Administration.

Many cities have been awakened to the importance of garbage utilization and there are instances where municipalities have taken over the garbage collection formerly handled by private concerns. Instead of paying large sums to contractors for disposal of city refuse they are saving this money by operating municipal reduction plants which are turning out large quantities of garbage greases.

The grease extraction from garbage has fallen off about 30 per cent in the period under consideration, according to the figures, which nevertheless indicate a material saving of fats from the decreased amount of garbage that has been collected. In other words there has been less garbage and even less grease, but what grease there was has not been allowed to go to waste, but has been recovered to a higher percentage than formerly.

The Food Administration is heartily encouraging the utilization of garbage either through reduction plants for the reclamation of materials from which war necessities are made or as hog feed. In either case it is necessary to keep garbage free from foreign materials—paper, glass, crockery, tin cans, etc., so the maximum value can be derived from minimum expense and labor.

Division of the Spoils.

The purpose of the Food Administration in regard to the present sugar shortage is two-fold; namely, to stabilize the cost to the consumer and to equalize the distribution, both here and abroad.

The Sugar Equalization Board, recently created by the Food Administration and approved by the President, hopes by a re-adjustment in production cost and transportation rates to keep the price down to a fair level.

Due to increased cost in over-seas transportation as well as on our own railways and to a general increase in the cost of production, the price of sugar is higher than in normal times, but the creation of this board will, it is hoped, keep it down to the lowest possible level.

Some very good people have talked and talked and still the war is not won.

FAIR NOTES OF LOCAL INTEREST

Sheriff Harry Cole and his deputies in citizen's clothes were on duty and found little law breaking on the grounds. The uniformed officers were Horace Kimball, F. A. Hall, Ernest W. Hutchins, all of Norway.

The steps leading to the ocean wave gave way Wednesday afternoon under a heavy load and fell to the ground. Fortunately no one was injured, although all received a shaking up.

Franklin Maxim handled the check room as during the past twenty years. The automobile has cut deeply into this once important department, yet he still finds many patrons who are not car owners, who use this room for bundles and wraps.

The officials who cared for the main entrance were John Emerly, Thomas Clegg, Albert Ames, Elmer E. Stiles, all of So. Paris. The ticket sellers were Harry Lowell, W. S Starbird and Mrs. Elizabeth Edgerly. Sumner Parker, Edward Parker and Albert Snow cared for the upper gate across the track and Frank LaFrance and Walter Anderson handled the crowds near the grand stand.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilbourne of Portland, former residents of South Paris, visited the fair Wednesday and renewed old acquaintances.

The children of Oxford County had a large showing of canned goods. This was in charge of A. Van Den Kerckhoven, county club leader, and there are more than 500 jars. Each member was permitted to exhibit ten jars and from this fact it will be seen that there are not less than 50 different exhibitors, which shows the patriotic spirit of the children of Oxford County.

Many a bay and girl in Oxford County who attended the fair will cherish the pleasant memories and associations of the days pleasure and in years to come will look back to these Fair days that will form the foundation for many a story in the annals of their lives.

Mrs. George W. Ridlon of West Paris lost a silk jacket on the grounds Wednesday and found it at the Secretary's office. She was much pleased to think it fell into honest hands.

Police officer Albert Ames caught some fence jumpers Thursday, and brought them before President Wheeler who dealt with them in the usual way. The boys arrested were Elsed Mattor, 8 Maple St., Lewis Davis, 17 Summer St., and Roscoe McKay, 31 Whitman St., all of Norway. The McKay boy had a pass to the grounds on account of selling score cards but took that unusual way of getting on the grounds and got into trouble.

Frank L. Dingley, editor and controlling owner of the Lewiston Journal, is confined to his house and visitors are not permitted to see him. Mr. Dingley was brought home from his summer cottage at Squirrel Island about ten days ago. He is 79 and it is doubtful if he gets back to his desk again.

Surely "the Lord smiled upon us" this year and gave us fair weather for the Oxford County Fair. Friday the flood gates opened and the rains descended.

The Lewiston Brigade band, Arthur N. Pettingill director, attended the three days and gave perfect satisfaction. This is their ninth consecutive year here. No special trains were allowed Wednesday and Thursday, as in former years, and they motored from Lewiston each morning. The organization had been active during the State campaign but Oxford County is the first engagement for the fall shows.

Mrs. A. E. K. Grover entertained her cousin, Mrs. Anna M. Farwell of Brockton, Mass., over the week-end.

The Red Cross organizations at Norway and South Paris had the people pretty well tagged, and secured a large sum for the work. Young ladies from both towns costumed as Red Cross nurses canvassed the grounds Wednesday and Thursday and worked hard to make this a success.

Gregg's athletic show, featuring Homer Truman, the Maine wrestling champion, attracted large patronage. Several up country aspirants for a title went into the ring but failed to remain the allotted time. A limited ummber won out over the champion by stalling during the bout, thus walked off with the five dollar purse.

The gate receipts were the largest this year and made a record breaker. About 4000 attended Tuesday, 23,00 visited the show Wednesday and close to 13,000 entered the grounds Thursday.

Something like a dozen younsters were caught jumping the fence, and conducted to headquarters where their names were taken and the parents notified. A little good advice was given before they were released.

Ripley & Fletcher of South Paris, Norway Auto Exchange & Sales Co., and others made exhibits near the main entrance. Odell C. Rich of Norway demonstrated the Garford truck each afternoon by hauling the sweeper around the track between the heats.

Ernest A. Merrill came over from Manchester, N. H., to attend the Fair and visit relatives. He was born in North Norway School District No. 1, 51 years ago. He left "Dry Mills" on the Harrison road some 20 years ago and has since resided in Manchester, devoting his energies to farming, selling real estate and insurance, besides making laws in the City council for four years and representing his district in the general court at Concord, N. H. He has a son 31 years old and a married daughter.

Among former Norway residents and friends in town for the fair we note: John Foss of Pittsfield at his sister's, Elizabeth L. Foss; Harry Bittinger of Plymouth, Mass., at the Shepard Camp, Lake Pennesseewassee; Mark P. Smith and family of Vinalhaven at his father's, H. D. Smith's; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smiley of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Mundy of New York; Mrs. George W. Horne of Lewiston; Mrs. Charles Bartlett, Andover; Howard Evirs of Portland, Mrs. Florence Hayes of Rumford Point, Mrs. Roscoe Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Nevins and Mr. Merrill all of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Greenleaf entertained their friends Saturday at Highland Spring Farm, at a wedding reception. About twenty partook of a bounteous dinner at one o'clock, and in the afternoon over fifty gathered to offer congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Greenleaf. During the afternoon refreshments were served. Music and games filled the hours, which were happily spent. Mr. and Mrs. Greenleaf were the recipients of many fine gifts, in linen, china and glass, and several sums of money. Ruth and Lois Marston and Audress Bartlett acted as waitresses.

Jim Pledge: "Its pretty expensive; mutton is dear; I paid $15 for a portion of a sheeps ear and the dog got that."

An ounce of knowledge is better than a pound of guessing.

THE MIDWAY

One of the large attractions was Dion's freak and wild Animal shows. Here was found Alice, the cow, that has three hindquarters and gives a wonderful amount of milk; also Dynamite, the horse with eight feet; Tom Thum, the smallest horse in the world; Paddy, the smallest mule on earth; a pair of chickens with three legs each; a kangaroo farm, an alligator farm, a monkey and baboon family and two baby monkeys with mother. All sorts of booths were accounted for and well patronized among them were Ice-cream booths, waffle booths, jewelry booths in many forms as well as the hot frankfurts. Another great attraction was the tent containing Ursa, half bear and half woman It is understood she was one hundred four weeks in New York, fifty weeks in Paris and thirty weeks in Havana.

Fortune tellers galore read the stars, the hands etc., in mystic fashion where many learned their fate.

"Twenty thousand leagues under the sea" showed fishes of the deep in many forms, some wonderful and others too fierce to be wonderful only in another sense.

The little monkey with the hand-organ man grinding out the tunes, attracted as much attention as any side show. The little fellow cappered around and acted all three days for an amused crowd. He was almost human in his antics and failed not to obtain every corn proffered him.

DOING GREAT GOOD AT THIS SEASON

A superlative blood-purifying medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, combined with a superlative iron tonic like Peptiron, makes the ideal all-round treatment. No other medicines possess such curative properties as these two working together.

Two dollars invested in these two medicines will bring better results than four dollars spent in any other course of treatment or attendance.

It will be wise to get them today.

CATTLE DEPARTMENT

This part of the exhibit was filled with excellent stock representing the principal grades. Benjamin Tucker of Norway Lake had his large herd of Holsteins, being pure bred animals of the Ponica Korndyke and Johonna Fayne strains. L. E. McIntire & Son of Waterford exhibited the high-grade Greenfield Holsteins, headed by Lyons Job, the $3000 yearling bull.

Other Holsteins of merit were shown by E. J. Hobbs of Norway; A. D. Cummings, South Paris; and Fred Noble of Norway.

Jerseys occupied a conspicuous place. Among the cattle raisers showing these herds were C. R. King, South Paris; W. H. Young, Norway; F. W. North & Son, South Paris and T. B. Doughty, Norway. The Millett Bros., Norway, made a large display with Durhams, along with Ellsworth Thayer, South Paris.

Herefords were entered by J. S. & J. H. Millett of Norway, F. H. Corbett, South Paris; C. R. Wilson, Bryant's Pond; F. L. and A. J. Millett, Norway; H. A. Robbins of the same town.

H. Morse of Buckfield offered a fine Ayrshire herd.

Oxen and matched steers made a large display, and entries of working cattle were equal if not larger than in previous years. This show would indicate that this native power for farm work has not been given over wholly in favor of tractors. Oxford county and adjoining sections still raise fine cattle and willing to exhibit then.

The grade Holsteins were shown in large numbers by E. W. Keene, Hebron, W. B. DeCoster of South Paris, H. A. Knightly, Norway, Arthur Tuttle and J. Alton Ennis, of South Paris, H. S. Wood, A. R. Hendrickson, West Paris, H. A. Robbins, E. S. Abbott, Maurice Benson, J. A. Sturtevant, F. W Noyes, H. D. Hammond, B. F. Richards, Russell R. Smith, Lucian Frechette, George L. Briggs of West Paris, Ellsworth D. Curtis, Harold Shaw, South Paris, Eben Marston, Norway, N. O. Mills, Bolster's Mills, Frank Whitman, B. Y. Russell, N. E. Turner of South Paris, C. R. Nesson of Bryant's Pond. A. Jackson of Norway, F. H. Corbett and E. H. Hodgdon of Bryant's Pand are all showing beef steers.

In the sheep division there were not a great many entries but those there were good ones and were shown by Harold E. Whitman, A. M. Stone and J. W. S. Colby.

The swine were not as plentiful as in some years, but those exhibited were by J. A. Thurlow, South Paris, Thomas McKnight, E. Swallow, A. E. Morse and C. H. Merrill.

POULTRY DEPARTMENT

Harry A. Lovejoy of Norway, C. Guy Buck and Ernest Crockett of South Paris, members of the Western Maine Poultry Association, gather three hundred or more birds including land and water foul, into a good exhibit under the grand stand. The judges selected to pass upon the qualities of the display were unable to be here and the stock was scored by local poultry men. Reds and rocks predominated and several fancy breeds came in for favorable mention. High cost of feeds made an impression on the show this year as many exhibitors who formerly occupied prominent space were missing this year. On the whole, it was a good display of general utility.

Among the large exhibitors were Hilda Russell, Norway; W. E. Turner, South Paris; C. Guy Buck, South Paris. Chas. Francis of Oxford showed ducks and several pens of White Wyandottes. Agnes H. Fuller, South Paris made a fine display of Canada and African geese, Indian Runners and Mallard ducks. T. B. Doughty of Norway was also among the prominent showmen. J. B. Field. Norway, A. R. Tuell of West Paris and E. E. Buck of South Paris made large exhibits.

Y. W. C. A. BOOTH

At the Oxford County Fair this week one of the attractive booths was that of the Y. W. C. A. in charge of Ruth S. Hyde of Portland who was assisted by local girls. Literature of interest telling of the hostess houses and of the work with the munition girls was distributed. The Young Women's Christian Association which is one of the organizations working near the cantonments has also done work with the nurses in France where huts have been provided so that the women may have rest rooms and recreation centers in these foreign lands. The literature told of episodes in connection with these branches of the service.

Agnes J. Beal helped with the Y. W. C. A. Booth on the second day and the young girls who assisted her were Mary Jones, Kathleen McIntire and Madelyn Hayden. The third day Miss Beal who is county chairman of this organization had charge of the booth and was assisted by the same young ladies.

The second gasless Sunday was more properly observed in this vicinity than the first one. Hardly a car passed on roads where two hundred or more have been counted. Especially was the bane noticed at the fair grounds. Usually the setting up Sunday attracts visitors for miles around, and many automobiles are in evidence. This year less than a dozen were there, but they belonged to the fakirs or showmen.

Friday, Cecil E. Brown went to Camp Devens, where he was inducted into the service to do clerical work with local boards. He is on the list of registrants physically qualified for limited or special service. Mr. Brown has been chief clerk of the Oxford County board since its organization, is fully familiar with the work, and has been an efficient and popular official. It is expected that he will be returned to this board and continue with it, but he is of course subject to the orders of the war department. Fred A. Hunt, teacher of science and mathematics in the Bridgeport High School, Bridgeport, Conn., has won great fame as athletic coach of the school.

Mr. Hunt took over the coach duties of the girls' and boys' basket ball team on March 2 last and the two teams did not lose a game, all of which goes to show what proper coaching will do. The girls' basket ball team won the championship and was presented a loving cup by Bridgeport Telegram. The baseball team also, under the careful instructions of Mr. Hunt, did not lose a game. The following clipping being an extract taken from the Bridgport Telegram: "For five years he was a teacher and coach at Taunton High school in Massachusetts and he had many championship teams in all lines of sports. He took charge of the Bridgeport High school athletics last March and his success is well known to Bridgeporters.

If Mr. Hunt were in the movies, he would be referred to as a "man's man." Possessing a fine disposition, a sense of humor which is at all times pleasing and with personal magnetism which attracts he is ably fitted to teach and direct teams and command the respect and admiration which is due him.

Mr. Hunt is a member of Taunton, Mass. Lodge No. 150, B. P. O. Elks, a Knight Templar, Shriner and 32nd degree Mason—and a "good fellow" one that meets you with a smile, gives you a good handshake and tries to make life worth living."

THE PRINCIPLES OF 1776

The United States is the only country whose government was constructed upon the principles of human rights and human liberty. The governments of European countries grew up by degrees as extensions and consolidations of the feudal system. They were autocratic, opposed to individual freedom, and any advance in liberty for the body of the people had to be wrung from them by bitter conflict. The United States government, on the contrary, came into being as a guarantee of the liberty of the people.

The first statement in the Declaration of Independence acknowledges man's right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" and the formation of a new country is based upon the offenses of the king against this right.

The men who signed the Declaration did so as a protest against arbitrary power. They had little to gain and much to lose by the separation from the mother country. American troops were few and undisciplined, American resources undeveloped. The outcome of the struggle for independence seemed at the time more than doubtful. Yet these men, with hundreds of their followers, chose to hazard their property, their homes and families and their very lives in defense of the principle of human liberty.

America was victorious in the war, and came to a position where she could develop her power and resourses. The United States became one of the great and prosperous nations of the world. But the circumstances of her inception have laid a peculiar obligation upon her. She must stand as the champion of freedom or be recreant to her own traditions.

Our entrance into the war with Germany is the logical outcome of this position. We were predestined to it. The United States could not watch unmoved the spectacle of a great arbitrary power, utterly unscrupulous as to means, using its mighty resources and its strong military system toward the enslavment of Europe.

Our national holiday this year will be both a celebration and a solemnity. We are giving our money power and our man power toward the prosecution of a great war, in order to ensure to the free of this country and the oppressed of Europe the right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" not only for today, but for generations to come. On this anniversary of the birth of our nation let us feel more than ever that in such a cause no sacrifice can be too great,—that the love of country and the love of humanity are not mere phrases, but a living reality to us all.

MAINE RECEIVES SPECIAL SUGAR HOME CANNING

Eight Hundred Thousand Pounds Allotted for September—No Chance for Housewife Relax Food Conservation.

Orono, Maine, August.—The September allotment of sugar for "home" canning in this State will be made up of a special assignment by the Government of five hundred thousand pounds and three hundred thousand pounds surplus held by dealers, a total of eight hundred thousand pounds. Each dealer, will therefore, receive one pound of sugar for "home" canning for each two pounds allotted for general family use. The September allotments will be mailed to dealers if possible on or before September 10th.

The Government has allotted to each State for family use two pounds per person for September, and in the interests of an equitable distribution; the total amount of sugar assigned to Maine for this purpose will be allotted to each county on the basis of its population, or at least on the basis of the best estimates of the population of each county that can be secured.

It may be found necessary later to make a finer division and allot to each town on the basis of population in order to equalize distribution between towns, but such a plan cannot be followed in September.

The sugar allotted to each county on the basis of two pounds per person of its population, will be distributed to the dealers in the proportion which each dealer's sales during April, May and June 1918, bears to the sales of all the dealers in the county for the same period.

It requires at least ten days to make the necessary computations and issue the certificates for all the dealers. It cannot be expected, therefore, that the work of computing and issuing certificates in any month can be completed before the tenth of the month, but the Food Administration will endeavor to mail out all certificates not later than that date.

One issue only of certificates in September will be made and all sugar allotted to Maine will be distributed at that time.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S PART.

There is no chance for the housewife to relax in regard to food conservation. Just as the wheat situation begins to look brighter, she has now to turn to a more intensive sugar saving program. Last year's temporary shortage served to point the way. Means were discovered of cutting down on the use of sugar for sweetening. That was a mere apprenticeship, however, compared with with the conservation campaign which now becomes necessary.

For the burden of maintaining the Allied sugar supplies falls on us. There is not enough sugar available for all of us to live in accordance with our peace time habits. We must share with them. Our great war program has reduced our sugar carrying fleet; the sugar requirements of our overseas army are very large; our domestic crop is less than we expected; we have diverted 50,000 tons of sugar shipping in order that Belgium should have food; Germans have destroyed sugar beet fields and factories in Northern France and Italy; more than 50,000 tons of sugar were sent to the bottom of the ocean off our shores recently.

Since 70 per cent. of the country's sugar supply passes through the hands of the American housewife, it is evident that she has a most important role to play in its conservation. First, it is her part to see that no more than two pounds per person per month come into the family larder. Second, she must make this go round. It must be pooled and made to cover table use as well as what goes into the cooked food.

Every patriotic housewife will be conscientious about the use of her sugar certificate for canning and will return any unused amounts. Much sugar can be saved by the drying of fruits or by canning without sugar, adding sugar when the supply will not be so narrow.

All this takes time and thought, but it is a voluntary contribution to ultimate victory. Judging from the part she has played in the nation's wheat saving, the American housewife will again be sure of recognition when all returns are in on the sugar saving campaign.

POULTRY IN TRANSIT.

The poultry and egg section of the Food Administration has received complaints which have been made regarding the large loss of poultry in transit as a result of overcrowding the coops. Another common source of loss is through the injury of birds that stick their heads through the tops of coops when other coops are placed over them.

Names and addresses of shippers guilty of this wasteful practice of overcrowding, or using coops that permit injury to the birds, will be reported to the Food Administration.

"Conscientious objector" uses seven syllables where plain "slacker" would suffice.

PARIS HILL

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cummings

A decided gloom was cast over this entire community last week by the shocking accident by which Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Cummings lost their lives by the upsetting of a canoe on C Pond, north of Andover, where they had gone in company with George Woodsum, Mrs. Guy Swett and her sister, Anna Record, of South Paris for a Labor Day vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. Swett were out on the Pond in a canoe and Mr. Woodsum and Miss Record were in another in attempting to turn the canoe around it capsized and all three of the occupants were drowned. Mr. Cummings was a good swimmer but lost his life in a brave effort to save his wife.

The accident occurred in the middle of the forenoon of Monday, Sept. 2nd and the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Cummings were not recovered until four o'clock Tuesday, P. M. and that of Mrs. Swett later.

Mr. Cummings was thirty-one years old, one of the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cummings of this town where he has always lived. He was possessed of unusual ability as a mechanic and operated an automobile repair shop in the village and also held the contract for carrying the mail between this village and South Paris. He was kind hearted and accommodating nature, ready at all times to help one and all any time he could and his knowledge of mechanics was often of valuable assistance and will be very much missed.

Mrs. Cummings was one of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Pomeroy, who moved here a few years ago from Sumner, a woman much respected by all and a devoted and loving mother to a family of seven children ranging in age from six to twelve years, a bright and handsome family of whom any parent migh justly be proud. Mrs. Cummings was thirty-one years of age and leaves beside her seven children a mother, Mrs. Alonzo Pomeroy, who was with the children at that time. Two sisters, Mrs. Lula Daniels of this place and Mrs. Edith Record of Poland and a brother Charles Pomeroy of Auburn.

The funeral services took place Friday morning at ten o'clock at the Universalist church conducted by Rev. C. G. Miller of South Paris assisted by C. A. Knickerbocker. Jack Frost, that atmospheric Hun, is now seeking whatsoever he may destroy, and he is an enemy against which no successful defensive can be made. He visited this section Tuesday night and the more sensitive plants succumbed in most gardens. Cucumbers, squash vines were particularly hard hit. In the low lands the vegetation was frozen to an icycle.

OLD BILL SAYS

It has been some hot for the last week, not much over one hundred in the shade. I was cutting bushes one day and an auto party pitied me awfully. They said, "think of that poor man working in this hot sun cutting bushes." Well, after I got my days work done I started for home and I overtook this same auto party some was hunting for cool places, others were on their backs under that buzz wagon oil and grease all over them, one was patching a tire.

I asked them what they were doing. They said that they were on a little pleasure trip. Well, I said, "you can have all of this kind of pleasure, I will take mine in cutting bushes."

I had a caller down on my intervale the other day, Fred Harmon from Lovell. "I wish I had land like that, over on my place the plow is in the air more than half the time," well, Fred I said, "I can plow here eighty rods and not turn the plow out and as long as there is no law to prevent you from having such land you are some foolish to plow Shave Hill. I had one rocky farm where it took a good smart yoke of oxen to pull the yellow dock roots and I had to shoot my corn into the ground then catch a woodchuck and hang to his tail to do my cultivating, let him go ahead a foot then yank him back and my only regret is that I did'nt give that old farm away before I had wasted ten years of my life on it."

The Bible says the wind is tempered to the shorn lamb. Well, I think the apple crop and mountains, cranberries are tempered to go with the sugar shortage. I was on Bald Face after cranberries and I never did a harder days work since my mother first let me run out doors, than I did that day and I only got ten yards of berries, August 19th.

There are only two Saturdays in the year that you can't see the sun sometime during the day. Old Bill.

Big Barn Door Musings, Personal Sketches, etc.

I recently attended a pig-pen-moving. Charles, Walter, Lena, mother and my sister assisting. I did the bossing and prodded the hog along as they dragged the pen to a new location. You see the advantage of a 7x9 pig-pen. It is easily moved from place to place in the field.

The pig now eats corn from the cob and has become a hog.

The house in which I am stopping contains everything but a pin and a perfect apple.

Ed. Wiggin, who is supposed to be a truthful man says: "My daughter recently took 11 chickens and 12 dozen eggs to market and got $30.00 for them. Seventy cents per dozen for the eggs and 65 cents a pound for the chickens."

"I'll make those doughnuts just as good as I can, using as little substitute as the law allows. They are to be sold at the Sociable tonight for 2 cents each." Then it was confidentially unfolded that the Church Vestry Association was staggering under a debt and four dollars must be raised to pay the balance due Fred Shaw for painting last fall.

Apples are continually dropping from the trees while I'm writing. Nine baskets and a wagon body is filled with them and callers are loaded down with early apples on leaving.

The cider mill has been put in place and the process of changing apple juice into vinegar will soon commence.

A saga remark of a successful farmer: "Yes, I went over to Felker's and see the tractor work but I'd rather have oxen for when the work is done and you unhook 'em you can sell 'em for $400.00. The tractor makes no manure and on rocky land is easily broken. I don't want one; oxen are good enough for me."—Ed. Wiggin said the above.

Already one suit of my clothes has been given over to the destitute Belgian children. The ones I now am wearing are hid nights between the straw-tick and feather-bed and have thus far escaped the Belgian Red Cross workers.

Six Swedish children barefoot and thinly clad were at the boat-landing. They belong in one brood and are referred to in the home circle as, "Yourn and Mine and Ours" which signifies a union of broken families—Johnsons-Sevensons—but how they got so many of the same size and age is a mystery. All were apparently under 8 and at their home there were others in arms, in the cradle and on the way, while I'm informed both branches of the family have boys in the service and girls in Government employ.

These six were fierce to fish, wading into the water and talking incessantly about the big ones they were going to catch just like older persons when under the spell. I can't understand why little tots in swaddling clothes are so enthusiastically crazy to catch fish they do not want. The same is true of older persons. Why is it?

Have found use for the canes I have been gathering for the past few years. The Special Aid Society, 142 Berkeley street, Room 305, Boston, Mass., wants them for disabled soldiers. I sent 103 last week and on my return to Norway will send about as many more. Stout canes are wanted at the above address. Send them along not forgetting to prepay express charges.

I tied on each cane a card bearing the following: "This cane is presented by F. W. Sanborn of Meredith Center, N. H., and Norway, Maine. If you need one take it and finish it as suits your fancy. Should you report to me at Norway, it will be appreciated, and notice made of it in the Norway (Me.) Advertiser which is the great local family newspaper of that section."

Do you suppose I'll ever hear from anyone using those canes?

Note—Written in the hottest hot spell in July and delayed in getting into print and was as follows:

There is not much to write about except the weather and under such conditions I suppose I ought to keep still and sit in the shade. Those morning glories never looked as well as now. There are over 150 blossoms this morning and no two alike, red, white and blue predominating. I suppose they are trying to be patriotic.

They have grown in this spot for more than 50 years and no season has passed but what I've seen them but this year's effort exceeds anything of the past. They seed themselves. A wheelbarrow load of dressing was spaded in last fall and Charles waters them each night. Six or eight foot additional string has been tacked on the end of the barn. It is a big stunt but I guess they will reach the top.

A bloom opens only once and closes up by the noon hour, if not before. The closed blossoms are picked each morning. I have failed to see a honey bee, a bumble bee or a humming bird about them. Wonder where they are? Formerly there were lots of them. Possibly they were frozen up last winter or killed by the bug death on potatoes, who knows? Wonder what will be the result if there are no bees in this section. Will we get chestnuts and cucumbers? Some say not. We'll wait and see.

P. S.—Three weeks later: The morning glories have almost ceased blooming and cucumbers, potatoes and sweet corn are coming in in good shape, hence I guess there must have been bees about here or the story of their usefulness is a myth.

THE HALLS, AND A LOOK ABOUT

The halls were among the most attractive institutions of the fair. As in other years, they were filled to overflowing with exhibits up-stairs and down-stairs. Even the large new addition to the building did not leave space unoccupied.

Everything was ready at the opening hour for the big crowd that later would surge up and down, examine each article and talk to friends about their merits.

C. W. Bowker of South Paris is the halls' manager and he was a busy man, but everything was running like clockwork.

The apples and other fruits occupied two long counters and proclaim that Oxford County is in the apple belt. There is no better flavored apple than that grown in this section of Maine. They are large, juicy and taste just as an apple should taste. Pears, apples and grapes as well as cranberries and plums were shown. B. F. Richards of South Paris is in charge. This is his twelfth year. He says the apple crop in this section is about one-half. Mr. Richards says the farmer ought to get some price as the empty barrels cost $1.00 each.

The hall was hung with puffs, quilts and rugs of every description.

One would think the extensive Grange exhibits would lessen the general fancy display. This was not the fact. Mattie Richards of South Paris and Jennie Baker of Norway were in charge and they are both experienced and made light work of what looked, to an outsider, to be a gigantic job. The artistic things were displayed to fine advantage. While perhaps the Red Cross work had lessened some of the fancywork, still there was enough to fill the entire space allotted to it and the quality was very superior. Silk quilts were so plentiful they had a space given on a table; also the knitted goods.

Paintings, crayons and drawings were hung on the walls. Among the exhibitors we note: Helen Thomas Pratt of Oxford, a collection of colored crayons; Lewis C. Button of South Paris, a pen and ink drawing of the ship "Pilgrim"; Mrs. A. D. Park of South Paris, a collection in oil and water colors.

In the children's case was embroidery by Frances West, Doris Graves and Christina Mitchell of South Paris and Doris H. Kilgore of Norway Lake. Celia F. Barrett of East Sumner had a white quilt outlined in red and Marian Chapman, 11, Cathrine Chapman, 9; Gertrude Nevers, 10, Clara Nevers, 8, Marion Ames, 13, Mona Edwards, 13, South Paris girls, had knitted a quilt of different colors with a red cross square in the center. The children have wonderfully expressive drawings.

Pettengill & Perrault of Norway had two booths with millinery from their store. In one was displayed the hat for service, in the other hats of a more dressy type. Mrs. Perrault was assisted by their head trimmer, Mary Gauther from New York.

A. R. Clark of Norway is agent for the Graham glove cleaner of Old Orchard. This cleans clothes, shoes, etc. It was being demonstrated.

R. P. Skeetop of West Scarboro, Me., and Swansea, Mass., has returned again with Indian Craft.

Freeland Howe had Victors, Victrolas and records from his Norway music store, also other musical instruments. This place with its high class music attracted the crowd and a good business was done.

Mrs. C. W. Bowker and Mrs. H. W. Shaw of South Paris served lunch. Their menu attracted many a hungry one.

The Harrison Spring Co. of Gorham, N. H., were here with their bottled beverages. This was a big layout. The shelves were filled with the neatly labelled bottles.

W. J. Wheeler of South Paris in his music room featured the Poole and Briggs pianos' and Pease piano player, music and other musical merchandise from his store.

Longley & Butts of Norway had a bath room in white. This had all bath room accessories. In an adjoining booth they showed the cabinet, colonial and modern Clarion cook stoves, the wood parlor, the Clarion oak furnace, Franklin heater and Florence oil stove.

The Granges outdid themselves this year. There were six of them and each a fair in itself. The vegetables. corn and grains were never finer and the canned goods, jellies and pickles went "way over the top." The cooked foods showed a marked, practical improvement. Surely Mr. Hoover should have some credit. Wool rolls and knitted articles, warm and useful, were on every hand, while before the war they were few in an obscure corner and rather a curiosity. The antiques show the Revolutionary period ancestry.

The Pleasant Pond Grange, No. 531, was decorated in white and green. A. G. Farrar was the head man. He had some wild bronze turkey eggs. Some of the eggs were sent him from the west and now he is raising these turkeys. Mr. Farrar had the Farmer's Early Queens. These kind of potatoes he raised from seeds seven years ago and has since been improving the stock till now he claims he has developed the earliest potato that grows. Mrs. Emma C. Barrett of Sumner had a hand painted quilt. The paints were made from native plants and the flax grown, spun and wove ninety years ago. Dried flowers and grasses were labelled with their Latin and English names. Bottled milk and cream from seven different breeds of cows show a perceptible difference. Their service flag had two stars.

Norway Grange, No. 45, was under the direct charge of Mrs. W. F. Young. Red, white and blue were the tone colors, Gladys Greenleaf decorator. The pencil drawing of President Wilson was very lifelike. There were five service stars. B. G. Hamilton had a collection of South American butterflies. The butter case was under the care of Mrs. John Howe. In it was Mrs. Young's patriotic framed picture done in butter, "The farmer feeds them all." Mrs. F. E. DeCoster had charge of the cooked food; A. A. Herrick of the fruit, and the several committees on vegetables did themselves proud both in canned and fresh.

West Paris Grange was in "the colors" and grains and grasses. A display of the farmers' friends and the farmers' pests were comprehensively arranged as were mints and herbs; also the plates of potatoes, case of butter, and eggs marked from the different strains of hens; the cooked foods with a center cabbage salad, fit for the gods.

Paris Grange was "all dolled up" in white, oats and crab apples. Mrs. Frank Dudley was in charge. There were four stars in their service flag. There were 75 plates of apples, 25 varieties of potatoes, 5 of corn. They had many flowers and a Japanese exhibit. Corp. Richard Guy Cole, a member, sent from England a beautifully embroidered green satin mat with "Honor to Canada." They had a large lot of pears and plums.

Frederick Robie Grange, No. 307, of Otisfield Gore was in white, corn color and crab apples. The grains and grasses were well arranged. There was traced corn and cans of dried beans, hooked rugs and fancywork. In the food case was the cutest little cheese.

Hebron Grange had the name in yellow ears of corn with red ears for the initial letters. It was decorated with hemlock on white. Hebron is the apple town, and as might be expected they had well looking fruit, also canned and dried. The cooked food just suited everybody. It had a good old fashioned look that made you wish to taste. Their popcorn reached most to the top of the building and their grasses were from four to eight feet.

Oxford Co. Canning Club had on display some 600 cans canned by the girls of the canning company. This department was under the direct charge of A. Van Den Kerchoven of Bethel, who gave demonstrations and explaned by literature and verbally.

The Home Economic Division of Agriculture of Maine Extension Service with Catharine N. Platts of Orono, State home demonstrator, leader and Lucy Jones of Auburn home demonstration agent for Oxford, Androscoggin and Franklin Counties were present to answer questions in expert canning, drying, wheat substitutes, sugar and beet substitutes, and to distribute literature on same. They had a home-made iceless refrigerator.

The Y. W. C. A. in the war work was explained by Ruth S. Hyde of Portland She also gave out literature relating to her business.

The flowers and plants form a place of beauty and peace in these troublesome war times.

L. C. Sterling from the Boston office, assisted by Marion Gibson of Norway explained and exhibited the Park & Pollard feeds and rations.

F. A. Thayer of South Paris had a bedroom fitted up with American walnut furniture from the store.

S. B. Cummings of Norway had a plant of Feterita, a product of Africa of value for poultry and stock.

Mrs. A. W. Dunham and Mrs. A. G. Lovejoy of Norway had a domestic cheese.

The butter was by Mrs. A. Foster Jackson, Norway, Mrs. H. S. Jodrey, of Bethel; Turner Center Creamery.

Winona Young of Norway had 80 varieties of canned goods.

There were the finest lot of vegetables and all farm products ever seen in our county. The collections of field and garden crops displayed were by C. D. Morse, Waterford; Mrs. F. Dudley, South Paris; J. B. Field, Norway; Ernest C. Watson, Norway; Albert Knightly, 18, Norway.

Mrs. A. L. Freelove of North Bridgton was here for her second year with millinery from her store.

The War Savings and Thrift Stamps booth was in charge of four Norway young ladies, Christine Leavitt, Beatrice Stone, Esther Pike and and Marguerite Welch.

There were several stands for wire and other jewelry.

WITH THE LITTLE BABIES

The weather was cool Tuesday afternoon—just the weather babies enjoy. A happier and a prettier crowd of babies could not be found than those assembled at the baby show. They all deserved a prize, but they could not all get one for there were a limited number of prizes. Each baby received a present.

FEEDING THE MULTITUDE

Hooverizing wheat and curtailing the use of sugar, made a strong impression on the usual well stocked larders in "dining room square." With the local societies who have occupied the buildings for many years, it was a serious question, and several gave up altogether.

Elma Twitchell used the South Paris Congregational building, serving lunches and selling fruit. The Norway Congregational circle opened as usual, but cut their usual varied menu to baked beans, salads and the fixings. They served sugar, which was allowed in limited quantities by the food administrator, in envelopes. Mrs. George W. Holmes was in charge, assisted by members of the Ladies' Circle.

John Fletcher, the Norway candy man, sold cold drinks, ice cream and food in the dining hall occupied by the South Paris Methodist Circle last year. Mrs. Fletcher attended to the patronage, assisted by Mrs. Albert Sanborn. They also conducted a stand on the midway.

Twitchell's Oyster House first opened some thirty years ago on the same spot, was carried on by Ai O. Twitchell, with Mrs. Elmer Twitchell and daughter Melissa Twitchell caring for the many patrons. Baked beans were also served here.

The Ladies' Social Union of the South Paris Universalist Church served the public at the usual place. They set a fine table in keeping with the times and doled sugar by the spoonfuls. Mrs. George Cutler had full charge assisted by Mrs. Chas. Burgess, president of the Union.

Lovejoy's Eating House opened as usual in the building which they have occupied several years. A new sign explained matters to those not in touch with the present war condition. It read, "Don't kick—Don't Waste—Help the Boys in France. We are obeying the laws of the U. S. Food Administrator." Their regular boarder list was about the same as usual and the transient business excellent.

Hotel Dewey, conducted by Will Twitchell drew the hungry patrons who were not disappointed in the service or food.

Many stands on the grounds passed out frankforts, hamberg sandwiches, pies and doughnuts.

The war has laid a heavy hand on this department and more noticeable than last year. No complaint was heard and the large crowds appeared willing to accept conditions as a patriotic duty.

MIDWAY AMUSEMENTS

This department was fully represented with the usual living and preserved freaks. Dion's Wild Animal Show presented the smallest horse, Alice, the cow with freak leg and udder, the twin three-legged chickens and a host of curious kinks in natural law.

A two-in-one side-show across the way was filled with the strangest and wierd natural and artificial conglomeration possible under canvas. Grease paint and scenery produced a camel girl, the two-headed giant, a charming snake charmer and other remarkable prehistoric creatures collected for the express purpose to separate the coin.

For a small sum a trip could be made with Captain Nemo, twenty thousand leagues under the sea. A real octopus guaranteed to do terrible execution if alive was the only thing observed on this under sea side trip.

A fetching object was Alice, the Texan fat girl who was brought to town stored away in a baggage car. Corsets she wore not, therefore, her graceful lines were in keeping with the part. Her weight was not given on the pictorial representations which usually never fail to underestimate on this occasion.

Athletic shows where wrestlers held out five minutes on a five dollar bonus, ten pins, dodgers, hit the Kaiser and many games of skill and chance lined the midway in one glittering array. No person could leave the grounds and truthfully say there was no chance to spend money.

The old reliable razor post man and the chap who literally gave away expensive jewelry, was with us this year and did a thriving business. Little need for one passng through life blindly as palm readers stationed at convenient intervals would put you wise for a quarter. They faithfully reproduced the past and foretold the future in every day affairs, but found no lines bearing directly upon the burning war question of the day.

Fellows' Shows entertained both old and young on the ferris wheel, ocean wave and merry-go-round. They had the worst luck possible getting under way, but managed to start things after passing through oceans of exasperating experiences which started before leaving Bangor, their last stand.

Beer tents were not featured on the lower street as in years past and their absence made a conspicuous show. One or two old reliables sold the usual soft drinks and kept a respectable place, free from roughness and things which give many fairs a black eye.

Sam Cohen's Girlie Show was a strong attraction near the head of the trail. Everything was clean about the outfit and the vaudeville numbers offered were out of the ordinary and above the average performances.

Harry Isaacson and Louis Block of Norway disposed of dry goods in large quantities. Both are well known to the fair patrons and were busy during the show handing out their goods.

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITS

A. W. Walker & Son occupied the usual space under canvas near the main entrance. They carried a large display including tractors, various gas engines, farming machinery of various kinds, milking machines. In fact, many devices were shown which are most helpful to the farmer. These are carried at their place of business in South Paris. Percy Walker was in charge and with several demonstrators, explained the merits to a large patronage.

W. K. Clifford, as agent for the Worcester agricultural implements, offered many models under the grand stand in the customary place. The Worcester Lime and Fertilizer Distributor made by the Richardson Manufacturing Co., Worcester, Mass., was prominent in the exhibit.

Bran and Barley Bread

Two cups bran, one and one-half cups barley flour, five teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda, one egg, one and one-third cups milk, one-half cup molasses.

Sift together the dry ingredients, except the bran. Then mix in the bran. Beat the egg, add the milk, molasses, and the dry ingredients. Turn the mixture into greased pans, let it stand for ten minutes, and bake it in a slow oven from one to one and one-half hours. This will make one loaf.

Gingerbread

Two tablespoons corn syrup, two tablespoons shortening, one and one-half teaspoons soda, one teaspoon salt, one and one-half teaspoons ginger, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one and one-half teaspoons mace, one-half teaspoon allspice, one egg, three-fourths cup molasses, one cup buttermilk, two and one-half cups barley flour.

Cream syrup and shortening. Add soda, salt, spices. Beat in egg. Add molasses and buttermilk. Mix thoroughly, add flour and mix lightly. This makes ten servings or one and one-half dozen.

Chocolate Fruit Cookies

One-fourth cup fat, three-fourths cup syrup, two tablespoons grated chocolate, one egg, one and two-thirds cups barley flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half cup nutmeats, one-half cup raisins chopped fine.

Beat the fat and syrup together thoroughly and add melted chocolate and egg. Add dry ingredients sifted together, then fruit. Drop from spoon on a floured tin and bake in a hot oven until brown.

Cornmeal and Prune Fluff

Two cups prunes, two cups cold water, four tablespoons syrup, one egg white, one-half cup cornmeal, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one-half cup cream.

Wash prunes, cover with water and let stand 24 to 36 hours, or until soft. Drain and to two-thirds cup of the liquid (making up the amount with water if necessary), add the cornmeal and the salt. Bring to the boiling point and cook until the water is absorbed, stirring constantly. Add milk and cook one hour in the double boiler. Meanwhile remove the stones from the prunes, put them through a colander, add syrup and egg white beaten stiff. Place a spoonful of the cornmeal on the serving plate, add a generous spoonful of the prune fluff and serve with cream, plain or beaten stiff.

CHANGED TO THE RED TRIANGLE

In the very heart of a French port town, where traffic is thickest, there stood a bar room. It was just at the point where a sailor's or soldier's thirst was greatest as he trudged up the hill. It did a rattling good business, such a good business that the authorities kept a special eye on it. Whenever a military policeman had nothing better to do, he would strool up to this bar to see how many men were draped over it Accordingly, its trade languished, for there are more desirable things to do than to be a consistent drinker in the most conspicuous place in town.

Before long the madame found that her business had fallen on evil ways. Her success had been so great that it had failed! A public sale was announced—a sale of all the oh! so beautiful fixtures! Without thought of price, everything would go beneath the hammer of the auctioneer. Every one in town knew of it. And when you say "every one," you include Arthur S. Taylor, who used to be a newspaper man in Philadelphia, and who is now the head Y. M. C. A. in the district of the port town. So he went to the sale. And when the bidding fell off, and the madame wrung her hands because the price was so low, then up stepped Mr. Taylor and bought all the fixtures for the Y. M. C. A.

After that he dickered with the landlord and came to an agreement which permitted him to leave the fixtures where they were, to leave the bar where it was—but to change what passed across the bar.

That was only a little while ago. But as you mount the hill of the town, as you see the doors of the bar stretching out their invitation to bring in your thirst and have it quenched, you will see a strange thing. Over the door you will see in large letters the words: "The Red Triangle." Inside behind the bar you will see an American girl in the sky blue uniform of the canteen worker. And you will see sailors and soldiers leaning their elbows on the shining mahogany and hear them say like this: "Give us a chocolate milk shake," "Make mine pineapple," "How's the Y. M. special to-day?" "Package of cookies and two strawberry sodas," Think of it sodas, in France! And yet this is only one of three places in that one port town where the Y. M. C. A. has a soda fountain. Beside the Bar sits another American girl selling soda checks and during he lulls, changing the record on the victrola. Nothing old about those records either. With New York just "a few days away," the supply of tunes is kept upto the minute.

In the back room there are small tables and chairs. Those who prefer to rest as they drink may do so. And many do. "You see I figured it out this way," said Mr. Taylor as he looked over the blue olive drab shoulders packed along the bar, "I figured it out that half the attraction of the bar is the sociability of drinking slowly and gossiping while you do it. And you see it is!"

Women who laugh all the time in public nag all the time at home.

Meeting All Expectations.

One evening the young minister, who had seemed rather attracted by "Big Sister" Grace, was dining with the family. "Little Sister" was talking rapidly when the visitor was about to ask the blessing. Turning to the child he said in a tone of mild reproof:

"Laura, I am going to ask grace."

"Well, it's about time," answered "Little Sister" in an equally reproving tone. "We've been expecting you to do it for a year, and she has too."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Had an Easy Job

Cy Warman, author of the song "Sweet Marie," was an official of the Grand Trunk railroad, but he was always modest about his post. Once he stopped overnight at a little hotel in northern Michigan, conducted by a man who had previously run a shooting gallery and later a night lunch car in New York. The host related his own life story at length. Then he became interested in the biography of the visitor. "What do you do in Montreal, Mr. Warman?" "I work for the Grand Trunk," said Warman. "What kind of a job have you got? Do you sell tickets or handle baggage?" "Oh, I've got a better job than either of those," said Cy. "You know the man who goes alongside the train and taps the wheels with a hammer to see that everything's all right? Well, I help him listen."
